(The following proceedings were held in open court before the Honorable Douglas P. Woodlock, United States District Judge, United States District Court, District of Massachusetts, at the John J. Moakley United States Courthouse,
One Courthouse Way, Courtroom 1, Boston, Massachusetts, on January 11, 2012):

7 THE CLERK: All rise.

(The Honorable Court entered the courtroom at 4:10 p.m.)

THE CLERK: This Honorable Court is now in session.

10 You may be seated.

11 This is Criminal Action 11-10183, the United States
12 versus Casandra Littles.

13 THE COURT: Well, I have received a notice of filing 14 on January 5th, I believe, from the defendant containing a 15 transcript, a program overview and letter from Bishop Moultrie
16 and a letter from Enhanced Recovery, and I also have received a 17 notice of filing as of I guess yesterday of a psychiatric 18 evaluation.

19 MR. CUNHA: With respect to that, Judge, the reason it 20 got filed, despite the fact that there are sensitive matters in 21 it, is that I was out of the office all day at a deposition. I 22 called the office and asked that it be sent to Ms. Holik and 23 Probation because I wanted to give the most notice that I 24 could, because the report just came in yesterday and it was 25 inadvertently actually filed. There are obviously very 1 sensitive matters in there.

2 THE COURT: Well, we will have it sealed.

3 MR. CUNHA: That's what I was going to ask.

4 THE COURT: Yes.

5 MR. CUNHA: To my right and your left is Jaime 6 Zambrana. He is working in my office now. He comes to us.
7 from -- he is actually admitted in both Virginia and Florida
8 but not yet in Massachusetts. So, he is an experienced lawyer, 9 he worked on this case and he wanted to be here.

10 THE COURT: Sure, that is fine.

11 MR. ZAMBRANA: Thank you, your Honor.

12 MR. CUNHA: So, he's actually waiting for the Board of 13 Bar Examiners letter that waives him in and he is hopefully -- 14 we are waiting hopefully this week.

15 THE COURT: That is the first hurdle. You have also 16 got to become a member of the Bar of this Court as well.

17 MR. ZAMBRANA: Correct.

18 MR. CUNHA: He is aware of that, too.

19 He has just informed me that another document, which I 20 have in front of me, this has to do with -- it's from the 21 Social Security Administration, and it's a determination of her 22 disability for the issues that are the subject of the letter 23 from Dr. Hardman. This has not been filed with the Court. I
24 have it open to the Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law
25 which talks about the mental illness. If you want to see it --

1 THE COURT: I do, but has Ms. Holik seen it yet?

2 MR. CUNHA: Yeah. Just briefly, very briefly.

3 THE COURT: Well, she is a speed reader. I am slow.

4 So, let me look at it.

5 (Document provided to the Court by Atty. Cunha)

6 MR. CUNHA: I think it's dated 2008, your Honor. Yes, 7 December 16th, 2008. So, three years ago.

8 If you want, your Honor, we would make a copy and file 9 it after the hearing under seal.

10 THE COURT: I think it should be part of the record 11 here.

12 (Pause)

13 THE COURT: Was this appealed?

14 MR. CUNHA: She was granted disability, so as far 15 as -- was it appealed by the Government? Not as far as I know, 16 your Honor.

17 THE COURT: Because there was a dispute between the 18 federal reviewing official and the administrative --

19 MR. CUNHA: She is presently on disability for the 20 reasons articulated in that report.

21 THE COURT: How does that impact the question of her 22 program, nursing program?

23 MR. CUNHA: I mean, I think that there is a couple 24 of -- I don't think it precludes her.

25 THE COURT: I will pass it back.

1 (Document returned to Atty. Cunha)

2 MR. CUNHA: And we will copy it and send it in to be 3 filed under seal, your Honor.

4 I don't think it precludes her. Can I, with any 5 definitive assurance, say that it would not preclude her? I 6 cannot, your Honor.

7 THE COURT: Well, if she functions as a nurse or in 8 some medical capacity she will no longer be disabled.

9 MR. CUNHA: Well, no. And that's the second way I 10 think that it impacts upon her, and that is that, despite 11 this -- I mean, as we know, there are a lot of people who, upon 12 being found disabled, they figure, Okay, I'm set for life, and 13 they sit back on their heels. She has made a concerted effort 14 to get off of disability, to do something with her life. So, 15 now time will tell as to whether or not she is going to succeed 16 at that. But she's trying.

17 THE COURT: Are there any other written materials I 18 should have?

19 (No response)

20 THE COURT: Now, let me just turn to the Presentence
21 Report, which, Mr. Cunha, I understand that you have discussed 22 fully with your client here; is that correct?

23 MR. CUNHA: Judge, as far as one of the objections is 24 concerned, and I think it may have been --

25 THE COURT: Let me get the answer to my question

1 first, which is, have you and your client fully reviewed the 2 Presentence Report?

3 MR. CUNHA: We have, your Honor.

4 THE COURT: So, now let us turn to the objections that 5 are outstanding, anyway.

6 MR. CUNHA: Yes. As far as Objection No. 1 is 7 concerned, your Honor, I think there were two questions, one of 8 which was the nature of the debt, which we maintain is 9 accurate, as we maintain that our objection is accurate that it 10 was a debt that was generated by fees rather than activity; and 11 then there was a question of whether or not the offending
12 letter was sent, and it was I think Ms. Littles' initial memory 13 that she had not. We're assured by the Government that she 14 did. We accept that representation.

15 THE COURT: So, as far as paragraph 18 goes, I am more 16 fully informed on the nature of the financial relationship, but 17 it remains here that it was predicated upon a fabricated 18 letter.

19 Now, turning to No. 2, the view is that there has been 20 a settlement of some sort with Sterling Jewelers.

21 MR. CUNHA: And with respect to that, Judge, I think 22 we have provided you a letter with it. There was a negotiation 23 with them, and I believe it was even -- even though it's dated 24 afterwards, I believe that the negotiation was before these 25 events, so that really relates to the amount of any restitution

1 that's ordered rather than to a payment having been made. She 2 didn't have the money to make the payment, but the amount has 3 been compromised by -- and that's, of course, up to your 4 discretion, but they were not looking for the 600 whatever it 5 is; they were looking for 423 whatever that --

6 THE COURT: 69?

7 MR. CUNHA: Yes, your Honor.

8 THE COURT: Let me just understand, Ms. Walls, how 9 that really works. Let us assume that one of these victims has 10 a composition of the debt here. Do I really include it as 11 restitution there? Why shouldn't I defer to their --

12 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: Your Honor, my understanding 13 is, number one, she has not paid the settlement, so there has 14 been no verification that she has paid the $423.

15 MR. CUNHA: She has not.

16 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: No, she has not paid it.

17 So, therefore, restitution would still be appropriate.
18 She would make the payment to the Court, and the Court would 19 forward it to the agency.

20 THE COURT: So, rather than turning to paragraph 21 number 50, it should be 439.69 rather than 651?

22 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: No. Your Honor, our 23 position is that it should be the full amount because of the 24 case law in this Circuit and elsewhere that says that a 25 victim's settlement of a claim isn't binding on the Court.

1 THE COURT: I guess I would understand it if it were 2 someone less capable than Sterling Jewelers of protecting its 3 rights, but why would I do that with Sterling Jewelers in light
4 of their use of a debt-collection agency -- or Kay Jewelers, I
5 guess it is, but Sterling is the principal. Why wouldn't I do 6 it with them? I have the authority to do it, is the short of 7 it, right?

8 MS. HOLIK: I believe you have the authority to do it.

9 THE COURT: Right. Why wouldn't I? They are capable 10 of making their own judgments about how strong their claim is, 11 whether there are counterclaims, all of that sort of thing.

12 MS. HOLIK: I perhaps would take a different view, 13 your Honor, if Ms. Littles had paid that settled amount, but 14 since she has not the Government is of the view that the full 15 amount should be ordered as restitution.

16 In the alternative, if your Honor is inclined to honor 17 the settlement agreement, then that amount should be ordered as 18 restitution, because it hasn't been paid.

19 THE COURT: That is what I was going to say. I think 20 my view is that I will defer to the settlement amount. I am 21 not going to make it more than the settlement amount. They 22 reached an agreement. If there is a contractual problem, they 23 will dispute it.

24 But, in any event, I am going to change the first of 25 the restitution amounts in paragraph 150 to $423.69 in light of 1 this settlement.

2 Now, let me go to No. 3. Probation has the certified 3 copies of the court documentation. Is there anything further 4 to dispute that?

5 MR. CUNHA: I'm sorry, your Honor?

6 THE COURT: Objection No 3, she objected saying that 7 she was never arrested nor appeared in West Roxbury District
8 Court.

9 MR. CUNHA: You know, Judge, I think that could be a 10 memory issue as well. She was upset about it because she 11 didn't remember it. Can I point to anything more than that?
12 No.

13 THE COURT: So, I overrule that objection.

14 Then we turn to the Objection No. 4, which has to do 15 with the minivan and the police reports. I'm not sure that 16 they are material to my determination in this case, and so, as 17 a consequence, I am going to skip over that.

18 Paragraph No. 5 is the loss to Union Bank. That is a 19 carryover from an earlier Presentence Report. The distinction 20 between $89,000 and $98,000 is not going to be material to me 21 in this setting here, but I see no reason to change the 22 Presentence Report, unless there is some dispute with respect 23 to this.

24 Objection No. 6, which has to do with attendance at 25 her mental health --

1 MR. CUNHA: Yes.

2 THE COURT: -- that is something of some -- maybe not 3 the particulars, but that is something of some considerable 4 interest to me in terms of sentencing. Dr. Hardman's 5 suggestion is that jail has not worked in the past; on the 6 other hand, neither has mental health or her willingness to 7 comply with it.

8 MR. CUNHA: Well, that's where we're not sure we 9 agree, Judge, and I don't have the records in front of me, and 10 that's a failure on my part. But this is a difficult 11 situation, and part of it is that I think part of her issue is 12 denial.

13 THE COURT: Well, I can understand that in the larger 14 gestalt of her psychological issues.

15 MR. CUNHA: Yes.

16 THE COURT: On the other hand, denial without 17 something more is not going to be successful for me. Let me 18 just say how I would tend to think of it. I am looking at 19 someone who does not attend to her mental-health needs when 20 directed to do so. Now, that may be circular; that is to say, 21 because of mental-health needs she does not attend to her 22 mental-health needs. But that having been said, I am still --

23 MR. CUNHA: No, I understand. You have got to figure 24 out what's going to be an appropriate thing for the Court do 25 and what's right for the society. I understand that, but I

1 would suggest, Judge, that even granting, if it were to be 2 true, that there was some initial failure to attend meetings, 3 thereafter she did for a long period of time, and the records 4 reflect that, that she cooperated and that she went to 5 treatment.

6 I, frankly, think that in this context her recent 7 efforts at schooling are very important, because I do think 8 that there has been a clear effort on her behalf to try to deal 9 with her problems.

10 THE COURT: Well, I guess the short of it is, I do not 11 have a basis for overruling the determination of the Probation 12 Office here and the language, although I use it to try to get a 13 more textured -- the back-and-forth on the objection and the 14 Probation Officer's response to get a more textured 15 understanding of the issues.

16 With respect to Objection No. 7, this may be denial, 17 but there is not any question that she was arrested for a 18 violation of pretrial release, is there?

19 MR. CUNHA: No, there is not.

20 THE COURT: So, I overrule that objection.

21 The question of Objection No. 8, which is the 22 so-called forgeries and uncharged conduct, I do not think it is 23 disputed, because she stipulated to this before Judge Tauro, is 24 it?

25 MR. CUNHA: No, your Honor.

1 THE COURT: And similarly with Objection No. 9, the 2 court records that Probation has indicate that she was charged 3 in Roxbury District Court for that matter, and in the absence
4 of something more I am going to overrule that objection.

5 With respect to Objection No. 10, the suggestion that 6 she did not fail to cooperate, again this is new or 7 inconsistent with prior statements. Unless there is more 8 involved, I am of the view that I am going to overrule that 9 objection.

10 With respect to Objection No. 11, which has to do with 11 the fraudulent transfers to the M&I Bank in Milwaukee and the 12 discoveries made by the Probation Office, unless there is 13 something more here to be added, I am going to overrule that 14 objection.

15 So, what that means, then, unless there is something 16 further that the parties want to take up for purposes of the 17 Presentence Report, is, we have got a Criminal History Category 18 of IV and we have a Total Offense Level of 5. I clarified the 19 restitution amounts as $423.69 to Sterling Jewelers, $111.81 to 20 MetaBank and $641.64 to First Premier Bank.

21 The Guidelines, at least as I understand them, are 22 4 to 10 months in prison, 2 to 3 years of supervised release.
23 She was never truly in custody, I guess. Probation is 24 available. The Guideline fine range would be $250 to $5,000.
25 The restitution is the aggregate of the three that I just gave

1 you, three numbers that I just gave you, and there is a Special 2 Assessment that is mandatory of $100.

3 Are we dealing with the same set of numbers here?

4 MS. HOLIK: Yes, your Honor.

5 THE COURT: So, Ms. Holik, I will hear from you as to 6 the Government's recommendation.

7 MS. HOLIK: Well, I hardly need to say, your Honor, 8 that the reason that we are here is not driven by the 9 extraordinary low loss value in this case, and for a case of 10 this size it might surprise the Court, or perhaps not, to know 11 how all of these parties have struggled to put these pieces 12 together for a reasonable sentencing recommendation to the 13 Court. It is a very difficult case.

14 From the Government's perspective, the driving factor 15 here is the manner in which Ms. Littles committed this last 16 offense conduct. She is no stranger to fraud, she is no
17 stranger to federal prosecutions, she has been in jail. Yet, 18 for all of that, she chose to commit this forgery of the 19 signature of her Probation Officer, and I can't really think of 20 a worse decision unless, perhaps, she had forged your Honor's
21 signature, or Judge Young's signature or Judge Tauro's 22 signature, because, of course, Probation is an arm of the 23 Court.

24 And by choosing to try to avoid this debt in this 25 manner, she has, in effect, attacked this judicial process that

1 has tried over and over and over again, in fact, to assist her.
2 But she seems to be not only in denial, a word that has come up 3 several times as we have gone through the objections and the 4 Guidelines calculation, but she seems to be bent on not 5 receiving that help from this criminal justice system.

6 Mr. Cunha and I differ on this, but the Government 7 believes that a prison term, notwithstanding the psychiatric 8 evaluator's conclusions and perhaps other reasoned assessments 9 of this chronology, the Government believes that a period of 10 imprisonment is necessary here, given the seriousness of this 11 offense.

12 A read of the PSR, a read of the objections to the PSR 13 and a read of Dr. Hardman's report and the things that 14 Ms. Littles reported to him show that denial and, in a sense, a 15 sort of belittlement of the factors that bring her here today.
16 Indeed, at one paragraph of the PSR, paragraph 82, a statement 17 that is attributed to Ms. Littles' husband but, nonetheless, 18 the remark is that it is foolish that Ms. Littles is being 19 prosecuted for so small a thing. The Government does not view 20 this as so small a thing, we view it as a serious offense; the 21 driving factor is that forgery of her Probation Officer's 22 signature on Probation Department letterhead.

23 If a prison sentence is not imposed here, it seems 24 that we are feeding into almost an agreement that, yeah, this 25 is not that big a deal and there are other ways to punish

1 Ms. Littles. I think that also for reasons of general 2 deterrence a message needs to be sent that others who would 3 think of doing the same thing ought to think differently.

4 That being said, there are, of course, many reasonable 5 jail sentences that the Court could impose. The Guidelines
6 tell us that 4 to 10 months is the right range. I don't think 7 that that adequately takes into account this conduct, this 8 history, and I say that notwithstanding the medical issues

9 Therefore, the Government's recommendation is somewhat 10 higher than the Guidelines range, the advisory range, and the 11 Government's recommendation is a year and a day.

12 I think of that as sort of the backward-looking 13 punishment piece, but the forward-looking part is almost as 14 difficult: what to do with someone like Ms. Littles in terms 15 of supervised release?

16 I think that an argument could be made, it is not the 17 argument I am going to make, but I think it could be made that 18 we can't help Ms. Littles. She has been on supervision several 19 times. Two of those times ended in revocations. She has had 20 services.

21 One of the things that my work with Magistrate Judge 22 Sorokin in the C.A.R.E. session has taught me is that we can 23 only help people who will accept it, and if you will not accept 24 that help then we are wasting these resources.

25 Having laid all of that out, that is not actually my 1 recommendation. I just think that one could see it that way.

2 But, in fact, having read Dr. Hardman's report and 3 having the flash of the other document in front of me, my 4 recommendation, the Government's recommendation is that the 5 Court does impose a period of supervised release and that it
6 should be probably the 3 years that's available to the Court 7 with an evaluation to happen promptly after Ms. Littles is 8 released, if she is imprisoned, an evaluation by the Probation 9 Department to determine what type of counseling, what type of 10 mental-health counseling, what type of programs, whether it's 11 MRT or something else that Probation can recommend, what type 12 of program Ms. Littles should be required to attend.

13 I read the record a little bit differently than 14 Mr. Cunha, he probably knows it better than I do, but I think 15 that Ms. Littles needs to have someone requiring her to do 16 these things, because I think that when she is left to her own 17 devices she does not see these programs through. My guess is 18 that she doesn't really think she needs them, but she does.

19 With respect to her nursing program, I don't know this 20 to a certainty, but I think that people who have the number of 21 federal convictions that she has face difficulties in being 22 licensed. I don't know that that's going to happen for her, 23 even if she successfully completes the education program. It's 24 not obvious to me that that's a path that is going to result in 25 satisfaction for her.

1 We have dealt with the restitution issue, so I won't 2 go there.

3 Unless the Court has questions for me, that is the 4 Government's recommendation.

5 THE COURT: Thank you.

6 Mr. Cunha.

7 MR. CUNHA: I will agree with Ms. Holik that this is 8 an extraordinarily difficult case, and I find in my now 35
9 years at the Bar it's been one of the more perplexing 10 situations I've had.

11 You have a woman who is not just a sort of by rote 12 churchgoer, but somebody who actively participates in her 13 church, participates in the charitable works of her church, 14 who, as I said earlier, despite sort of the security, if you 15 will, of being on SSI, is attempting to do something with 16 herself and with her life. I think those are all very positive 17 things, and, to some extent, they are new things. But as far 18 as I know, they are both new things with respect to her 19 history.

20 Dr. Hardman, as it outlined, if you will, I think 21 there is a lot of other materials before you that deal with the 22 mental-health issues, with the background.

23 Without, I hope, not appearing to be glib, I am 24 reminded a little bit of the Officer Krupke song from West Side 25 Story about being depraved on account of being deprived.

1 Obviously, that circumstance is not one that our society 2 forgives somebody for their conduct, but the question is what 3 to do about it, and I don't see, Judge -- I can't tell you that 4 it would be not a reasoned decision to send her to jail, 5 clearly it would, given the fact that this is the fourth time
6 she has been in Federal Court. What I'm suggesting is I think 7 it will set her back, and I don't really think, frankly, that 8 somebody is -- I know the notion of deterrence, but I don't 9 think -- you know, what she did here was so, frankly, 10 unthinking and foolish and stupid, and I don't use the word 11 just because her husband used it with respect -- and I don't 12 think it should be attributed to her, but anybody getting that 13 letter, the first thing they would do is call the Probation 14 Officer. But there was no thought. That's why this is 15 frustrating.

16 I just don't think it's going to be of any benefit to 17 society to address underlying issues and make sure that there 18 isn't another time, and I suggest that if you feel that some 19 confinement is necessary, that it makes more sense to consider 20 home confinement, to consider allowing her to continue in her 21 education, to continue with her religious activities.

22 In addition to the mental-health issues, she's got 23 other physical ailments that are going to require -- she's got 24 problems with her eyes; she's going to need laser surgery, I 25 believe, on her eyes. She's got medical issues that are going

1 to require her to be able to have access to medical care. I
2 understand that the federal system has medical facilities. I'm 3 not convinced that they are the same level that she would avail 4 herself with on the outside.

5 What I am suggesting to you, Judge, is that she just 6 not be sent to jail. I just don't think it's going to do 7 anything for her, I don't think it's going to do anything for 8 society. Again, if you feel that she needs restrictions, set 9 the restrictions by the bracelet.

10 It does make sense for her to have supervised release.
11 It makes sense for her as an aspect of supervised release to 12 undergo continued mental-health consultation.

13 I don't know what else to say other than to say that 14 what we have presented to you I think supports what I'm saying, 15 not just Dr. Hardman's letter but the letter from her pastor, 16 the fact that she's in the nursing program. I know it's a 17 difficult decision, but I would suggest that that is the proper 18 decision, is to not incarcerate her.

19 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: Your Honor, may I add 20 something?

21 THE COURT: Yes.

22 THE PROBATION OFFICER. I tried to say it earlier, but 23 I couldn't get in.

24 The term of supervised release recommended by the 25 Guidelines has changed since the Presentence Report was

1 written. It was written in September 2011. Effective November
2 1st of 2011 the range is now 1 to 3 years rather than 2 to 3 3 years.

4 THE COURT: One to 3 years.

5 Let me ask one other question, Ms. Walls, of you. The 6 offense conduct took place while she was still under 7 supervision?

8 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: No, your Honor. It took 9 place -- I believe her supervision ended in September 2010, and 10 this occurred in February 2011, when she sent the letter.

11 THE COURT: When she sent the letter.

12 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: She opened the credit while 13 she was on supervised release, but at the time she opened the 14 credit there wasn't a condition prohibiting it, and so she had 15 an administrative hearing -- a meeting with her supervising 16 officer during which she signed a modification agreeing to add 17 that condition, and as far as we know she did not obtain new 18 credit after making that agreement.

19 THE COURT: Let me just be sure I am on board with 20 this.

21 (Pause)

22 THE COURT: I see that here.

23 So, Ms. Littles, I will hear from you, if there is 24 something you would like to say.

25 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, I just want to say --

1 THE COURT: Maybe Mr. Cunha can put the microphone in 2 front of you so you can speak into it.

3 THE DEFENDANT: Your Honor, I just want to say that I 4 am dealing with my issues right now. I do want to be -- I have 5 acknowledged that I have done something wrong, that I've done 6 wrong, and I am dealing with it, and I'm struggling.

7 I'm willing to work those things out. That's why, you 8 know, I want to go to school to be a nurse so that I can be 9 better in society, and having counsel with my pastor and also 10 working in the community with the elderly and children and the 11 homeless shelters. And I just want to say that I am working on 12 being a better person for society.

13 And, I'm sorry, I don't mean to be teary. I don't 14 mean to be teary.

15 That I am willing, I do want to be better to society.
16 That's why I'm working so hard now trying to do that.

17 I just want to also say that I know what I have done
18 was really unthinkable, and that I, too, acknowledge that I 19 have done wrong, but I am doing better to be a better person in 20 society.

21 THE COURT: All right. Thank you.

22 Well, there is, as everyone acknowledges, a great 23 difficulty that is presented by this case. The issue of 24 supervening change in Ms. Littles' life I think needs to be 25 tested against the time periods in which she was engaged in the 1 criminal activity here, including the preparation of the letter 2 that was false and fraudulent. She began, according to the 3 transcript that I have been provided, with her nursing program 4 in the Spring Term of 2010, that is, before the letter was 5 sent.

6 With respect to the involvement, deep involvement with 7 the church, it is a little more difficult to get my hand on 8 that, in part because Bishop Moultrie does not provide specific 9 dates, except to say that she has been a long-term member of 10 the church, again suggesting that this has been activity that 11 has predicated the crime that brings her here.

12 The question of imposition of a period of 13 incarceration is the fundamental one for me in this setting, 14 and I think that what I have decided to do is not to impose 15 immediately a period of incarceration, in part with a view to 16 seeing that Ms. Little lives up to what she said is her goal.
17 This is with, I want to be clear in stating this, the sure 18 understanding that if there is a violation of supervised 19 release she will be back in here -- I guess I am going to treat 20 it as probation because she has not been in custody -- that I 21 am going to impose the Government's sentence, proposed 22 sentence, which I think is reasonable under these 23 circumstances.

24 So, let me step back and explain it in the larger 25 context of Section 3553. We start with the nature and

1 seriousness of the offense. It is a very serious offense, 2 frankly. It is short money, that is for sure. It is personal 3 aggrandizement, which has a thread throughout the prior 4 violations and convictions, but it is serious in the sense that 5 it is repetitive and it involves the invocation of the Court
6 itself, as Ms. Holik properly argued. The use of Court
7 stationery, the use of a purported signature of a Probation 8 Officer is a corruption of the criminal justice system that, 9 frankly, has made great efforts to try to support Ms. Littles.
10 And so, I will not concede that it is a de minimis kind of 11 offense, particularly in the context of recidivism and the 12 method of execution.

13 I then look at the nature of the defendant. It is the 14 case that defendant has had a very hard life in a variety of 15 different ways, both in terms of abusiveness as she grew up and 16 in terms of challenges, both physical and mental, that she 17 faces. I credit the efforts that she has made to improve her 18 lot, particularly when she has been able, as Mr. Cunha properly 19 points out, to obtain Social Security Disability, and those 20 improvement mean that ultimately, if successful, they are going 21 to undermine the availability of that Social Security income.

22 I treat as compelling her efforts in the community 23 through the church, which are important and a way, as 24 Dr. Hardman pointed out, for someone who is in Ms. Littles' 25 position to reflect on her own circumstances and try to make

1 life better for others.

2 But I cannot disregard the repetitive return to 3 fraudulent activity, of which the denial is just another form 4 or variation, the unwillingness to see things as they are, to 5 confront things as they are and always to, in these failures or 6 denials, always to serve her self-interest. This is not simply 7 someone who does not see the world as everybody else sees it; 8 it is someone who sees the world in a way that serves her own 9 purposes. So, I have that in mind.

10 I turn to the question of general deterrence. General 11 deterrence is a real tangible consideration for me. I don't 12 think that there are any particularly compelling standards that 13 can be applied. There is no market for cap and trade criminal 14 activity so we can understand what its value is and what its 15 worth is so that if you face a year and a day in prison will 16 that mean that you will not do it again, that others seeing 17 that will not make you do it again or will not make themselves 18 do it again.

19 It is far too fluid and speculative, except to say 20 that there is something about the concept of general deterrence 21 that is very, very important, that people should not get the 22 idea that after a relatively long criminal record you can walk 23 into a jewelry store and get whatever you want. That the 24 jewelry store is prepared to give you credit for it is 25 surprising to me, but, in any event, I am not going to blame

1 the victim under these circumstances. They permit someone like 2 Ms. Littles to do that and there should be a criminal sanction 3 that is sufficient to at least deter others who might consider 4 that kind of action. So, jail time is not unreasonable under 5 these circumstances.

6 I turn, then, to the question of specific deterrence, 7 and here I am perplexed beyond anything else. I do not know 8 whether Ms. Littles is going to walk out of here and go down to 9 Long's and get some more earrings. She had better not, but I 10 have no real certainty because of the character of the past 11 experience with her dealing with her problems.

12 Now, the sentence should be no greater than necessary 13 to serve the larger purposes, but I do not know what is 14 necessary to keep her from engaging in this kind of fraudulent 15 activity, which, frankly, required a certain amount of, in this 16 case, thought and consideration and sophistication.

17 So, what does it take to keep Ms. Littles from doing 18 this again? I think a constraint that will involve the use of 19 an ankle bracelet with one year of home confinement, is a way 20 of dealing with that, and the potential of revocation of 21 probation if she does not comply fully.

22 I then look to the question of unwarranted disparities 23 among other sentences. Ms. Holik is correct that this level of 24 case does not ordinarily find its way into the Federal Court, 25 we do not see that much of it, but it does sometimes and

1 particularly in this template, someone who continually engages 2 in mail fraud for purposes of self-aggrandizement. And here I 3 am concerned, because this is a jail case but for the other 4 considerations.

5 So, I am not telling any of the attorneys anything 6 they do not know. There is a mixed collection of issues that 7 come together in the context of evaluation of the 3553 factors.
8 My own view, in a larger sense, is that they are 9 incommensurables; they do not compute in quite the same way, in 10 any event, but it is made particularly dramatic in this case.

11 So, I go back to this: What am I going to do to 12 ensure that she does not do it again, do what I can to ensure 13 that she does not do it again, that it is understood that this 14 is a serious matter? But something else. Is there something 15 more we can do for Ms. Littles?

16 Quite a bit has been done, frankly, through the 17 Probation Office here, as Ms. Holik properly said, and there is 18 a kind of parable of The Prodigal Daughter that plays into this 19 that makes one say we have invested a great deal in you, Ms.
20 Littles, and you have not responded. But I am prepared to take 21 one final step in this regard to see if we can reinforce the 22 good things and protect you and the rest of society from the 23 bad things that lurk like demons in the back of your mind.

24 So, for those reasons, I am going to place Ms. Littles 25 on probation for a period of 3 years, which I believe is the 1 maximum.

2 PROBATION OFFICER WALLS: Your Honor, the maximum term
3 of probation is 5 years.

4 THE COURT: Would be 5. I am going to make it
5 years.

6 What this means is, if you get in trouble, you are 7 back before me, and if you are back before me, I am going to 8 remember that I took a chance and you defrauded me, too.

9 I am going to impose as a condition that the defendant 10 be subject to a bracelet. To the degree that she can, she 11 should pay for it. It will remain in place for one year. It 12 amounts to home confinement. I will permit her on a schedule 13 to be developed with the Probation Office to attend her health 14 concerns, her religious concerns and her classes, if you have 15 educational classes to pursue. And when I say "religious 16 concerns," I mean including the opportunity to help the elderly 17 or children or people who are disadvantaged under the 18 supervision or aegis of the church itself.

19 I will impose, as I must, the obligation of paying the 20 restitutionary figures. Just to recapitulate again, those 21 restitutionary figures, amounts to be paid to the Clerk of the 22 Court and distributed by the Clerk, are to Sterling Jewelers in 23 the amount of $423.69, to MetaBank in the amount of $111.81, 24 and the First Premier Bank in the amount of $641.64.

25 I will direct that the defendant be subject to a

1 mental-health program to be developed by the Probation Office.
2 I leave it to the Probation Office to develop in a more 3 fine-grained manner than I would otherwise be able to do this 4 mental-health program.

5 Now, part of the problem, at least as I read this,
6 Ms. Littles, is you do not pay attention or you lose momentum.
7 This is important for you, to go to your mental-health program 8 and start to address the issues that confront you. Some of 9 them are classifiable as bipolar and so on. Some of them are, 10 as I have said earlier, demons that you have to live with, and 11 mental-health programs are supposed to deal with those as well.
12 In any event, the Probation Office will address that for you.

13 I will permit the probationary obligation of 14 restitution to be paid on an installment payment as developed 15 for my approval by the Probation Office, but so long as there 16 is outstanding an obligation, financial obligation, the 17 defendant is obligated to provide the Probation Office with 18 access to any requested financial information. You must 19 understand that that information can be provided to the 20 Financial Litigation Unit of the United States Attorney's 21 Office. You may not enter into any credit arrangements during 22 the period that you are on probation, additional ones, without 23 the express approval of the Probation Office. That is a matter 24 that is going to be subject to limitation under these 25 circumstances.

1 I am going to impose a drug treatment testing 2 obligation here, and I will permit the Probation Office to have 3 as many as 104 drug tests per year, not that that is going to 4 be required, but to provide a prophylactic measure to deal with 5 any potential issues that may arise with respect to drugs. The 6 defendant is obligated not to commit another federal, state or 7 local crime in addition to the standard conditions and 8 mandatory conditions of supervised release. She must submit to 9 the collection of a DNA sample as directed by the Probation 10 Officer. She is prohibited from possessing a firearm or other 11 dangerous weapon

12 I believe those are the conditions that I need to 13 include here.

14 Of course you are obligated to pay the Special 15 Assessment of $100.

16 If you do not understand it by now, let me tell you.
17 A lot of people have spent a lot of time on your case, the 18 United States Attorney's Office, your counsel, the Probation
19 Office, and they have helped me to understand a little bit 20 better what is involved here.

21 There is nobody here who wants to see you in jail as a 22 general proposition. On the other hand, you seem to have in 23 the past shown a kind of lemming-like desire to go to jail 24 yourself by doing these stupid things. They are low grade in 25 some ways, take a big trip with your family, buy yourself some

1 sapphire earrings. It is not worth it to engage in this kind 2 of activity.

3 I have tried to fashion, as best I can, a mechanism to 4 support you and give us all some sense that we have some 5 control over your activities. This is not, however, a false 6 promise to you. If you come back here again you will go to 7 jail, and you will go to jail for the period of time, at a 8 minimum, that the Government has asked for.

9 We want to make it possible for you to work it out by 10 yourself with the support of everyone and the Probation Office, 11 but if you choose not to, that is your choice, and that choice 12 comes with consequences, and I have outlined for you what they 13 are going to be.

14 This is a very long period of time of probation. I 15 thought I only had 3 years; Ms. Walls reminded me that I had 5.
16 So, we have a long time of thinking about this, you and I.
17 While I do not mean to be inhospitable, I really do not want to 18 see you again; I want you to be working at getting your life 19 together and doing the things that you should do.

20 Now, are there any other conditions that we need to 21 take up at this point that the parties would ask me to?

22 (Atty. Cunha conferring with defendant off the record)

23 THE COURT: You should understand, Ms. Littles, that 24 you do have a right of appeal. You will want to discuss with 25 your counsel whether that makes any sense.

1 After giving you a little bit of a scolding in the 2 sense of what could happen if things do not work out, it is my 3 hope that it is going to work out; my hope and, frankly, my 4 expectation it is going to work out. So, good luck.

5 THE DEFENDANT: Thank you.

6 THE COURT: We will be in recess.

7 MR. CUNHA: Judge, could I just, very quickly, with 8 respect to the Social Security Administration report, there are 9 two ways to deal with this. One would be to file it under 10 seal; the other would be to provide it to the Probation 11 Department.

12 THE COURT: Because it was not part of the Probation
13 Office's Presentence Report --

14 MR. CUNHA: I don't believe so.

15 THE COURT: -- then I want it filed because it was a 16 matter that I considered in connection with this. So, it will 17 be filed under seal.

18 MR. CUNHA: I will submit it.

19 THE COURT: And with respect to Dr. Hardman's report, 20 that will be sealed at this point.

21 MR. CUNHA: Thank you, your Honor.

22 THE CLERK: All rise.

23 (The Honorable Court exited the courtroom at 5:10 p.m.)

24 (WHEREUPON, the proceedings adjourned at 5:10 p.m.)
